

Terry L. Nicola MD, MS

Clinical Assistant Professor

Terry L Nicola MD. MS., joins the department as a Clinical Assistant Professor. He is Director of Sports Medicine Rehabilitation. He received his doctorate and residency training from Northwestern University. His special interests include nutritional needs of athletes. He is co investigator in a NIH funded study on exercise in patients with chronic disabilities. He is a board certified electromyographer. He brings to the department extensive experience in orthopaedic rehabilitation.